Nero Marquinia

Origin: Spain.

Stained black colour (not homogeneous) with white veins, more or less intense, having coal infiltration inside. The main feature is the veined structure. The surface is irregular for the presence of cracking lines, also called “cavilli”, that are a characteristic of the natural marble.

Material processed in a traditional way, with last generation machines and polished with natural waxes to respect the essence of nature. We recommend not to pour acid substances as carbonated drinks and / or alcohol, oil, wine, vinegar and citrus or remove them immediately, avoiding affecting polishing.

For cleaning, we recommend very delicate products without solvents or corrosive substances. Treated with stain protection. Since marble is a natural product, any visible defects are to be considered the characteristics of the marble itself. As marble is a natural material, the veins and color tones can vary from slab to slab. Therefore the images are to be considered purely indicative.
